

Invitation to final conference:

Stories by Heart – communication across North and South

How can we create stronger and more inspiring communication in partnerships between North and South – communication that strengthens internal collaboration and also reaches the outside world clearly?

We invite you and your organisation to the final conference of the Stories by Heart project. At this event, we will share experiences and concrete tools on how small and medium-sized NGOs can:

- Develop clearer “heart stories” and key messages that resonate both locally and globally.
- Use the FABO e-learning platform and our new course modules to build a common understanding and language for communication.
- Apply practical templates and methods for storytelling, content planning, visual materials, and social media.
- Strengthen the flow of communication and outreach between North and South partners – so that stories, photos, and results are actually used and seen.

The conference will provide inspiration, hands-on tools, and the opportunity to exchange experiences with other organisations working with similar challenges and potentials.

Date: 6th November 2025

Venue: Ubuntuhuset, Købmagergade 43, København K and online

Time: 1:30–4:00pm

The event is open and free for NGOs, associations, and networks – from North and South – with global partnerships.

Please register no later than 3rd November to signe@okosamfund.dk

Let's strengthen development communication together – so that the stories we care about are told and shared in ways that truly make a difference.

This project is funded by Global Fokus.
